ROAD SAFETY

ROAD SAFETY GETS HIGHLIGHTED

The evenings may be getting darker – but not in Newry, Mourne & Down where the streets have gotten brighter, thanks to the hi-vis vest give away project.

Newry, Mourne & Down PCSP have been supporting Road Safe NI in supplying hi-vis vests to runners, walkers and cyclists. Volunteers also illuminated the importance of road safety and being seen by other road users.

The project was in conjunction with PSNI and many voluntary groups and businesses across the district.

The committee thanked local businesses, and Newry, Mourne & Down PCSP for the donation of the vests and their continued support: “It is so heart-warming to see what can be achieved when an entire district comes together.”

ALL SIGNS POINT TO DRIVERS SLOWING DOWN

In Newry, Mourne & Down, motorists won't be able to plead ignorance to their speeding any more as new speed indicator signs will let drivers know exactly how fast they're going.

The 7 new Speed Indicator Devices (SIDs) are temporarily-activated signs that detect and display real-time speeds of the passing car. They're an awareness raising tool designed to make motorists aware of their speed and advise them to slow down to prevent serious injury and death.

The project was led by Newry, Mourne & Down PCSP alongside DFI Roads Service and local PSNI and community representatives. Careful research went into all aspects of the project, including picking installation sites that have been of community concern regarding speeding.

The new devices will be a lot harder to ignore than the speedometer!

ART EXHIBITION WITH A TWIST

It's that time of the year again! Primary 5 children got creative in the name of road safety, putting coloured pens and pencils to paper for the Road Safe NI poster competition.

The artists-in-making were tasked with creating a poster that focused on road safety issues: mobile phone usage; seatbelt wearing; high visibility for all road users; and/or the Green Cross Code. The poster campaign aimed to engage vulnerable road users in the community, and to drive home the safety message!

As part of the partnership with Road Safe NI and Antrim & Newtownabbey PCSP, The Abbey Centre transformed one of their shopping centre units into a gallery space to display the works of art in the STOP, LOOK, LISTEN exhibition.

The winning entries will be published into a Road Safe calendar for Antrim & Newtownabbey PCSP.

Road safety art and education were on offer at The Abbey Centre

TIRED TYRES? TIME TO CHECK

October is Tyre Safety Month. When did you last check your tyres? Tyre defects are the cause of many serious and even deadly incidents on our roads. By checking tyres thoroughly, many of these accidents could be prevented.

Check out this video released by Road Safe NI that goes over the steps of how to properly check a tyre, what to look out for and how often you should be checking your tyres.

ALL ABOARD FOR SAFE TRAVELS

Translink and PSNI have teamed up to take on crime and anti-social behaviour on our public transport system. The new 'Safe Transport Team' is a six month pilot scheme that will see Local Neighbourhood Police Teams and Translink working together to keep public transport customers safe.

Officers will regularly travel on buses and trains, as well as have a presence at public transport hubs. The aim of the scheme is to provide a visible reassuring presence for members of the public and to help keep everyone safe.

TURNING THE WHEELS TOWARDS SAFETY

Maryville Community Group in Banbridge noticed that the children in their neighbourhoods were putting themselves in danger whilst cycling. They weren't wearing helmets or bright clothes, making them difficult to spot for motorists and other road users.

After approaching Armagh, Banbridge & Craigavon PCSP, they worked together with local PSNI officers to educate local children on safer cycling habits. Small group talks were given on cyclist safety and reflective clothing was given out. The bikes were also marked, meaning they can be traced if stolen and found by the police/retailers.

THE 'KEY' TO BEATING CAR THIEVES

After becoming concerned about keyless motor vehicle thefts occurring outside homes, Armagh, Banbridge & Craigavon PCSP decided to take action in their community.

Working in conjunction with local car dealerships, customers who had bought a keyless entry vehicle were identified and offered a 'Faraday Signal Blocking Pouch' – a special pouch for keeping their keys safe from would-be thieves.

Armagh, Banbridge & Craigavon PCSP also teamed up with PSNI Crime Prevention Officers to produce educational literature for both customers and car dealerships.

NATIONAL HATE CRIME AWARENESS WEEK

This year's National Hate Crime Awareness Week ran from Oct 10th to 17th. It's a week for highlighting the impact that hate crime can have on victims and for focusing on the organisations who are here to help. It's also an opportunity to highlight the partnership work that takes amongst various organisations, including public sector bodies and charity organisations, in order to combat hate crime. To help raise awareness videos produced by the PSNI highlighting hate crime have been shared across social media.

Everyone has the right to a life free from discrimination, persecution and hate. If you are the victim of racism, or any sort of hate crime, please know you are not alone.

You can ring the police on 101 or 999 in an emergency. You can also report hate crimes online.

Racism in any form is unacceptable. This mother felt intimidated in her home and alone in the community:

This man felt isolated and vulnerable as a result of the abuse he suffered in his own neighbourhood. Attacking someone because they have a disability is a hate crime:

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT CARRIES ON(LINE)!

Community engagement is still firmly on the agenda in Armagh, Banbridge & Craigavon, thanks to the PCSP taking their meetings online. The community engagement meetings with the local Neighbourhood Policing Team's Inspectors usually take place 7 times per quarter in each district. Instead, Armagh, Banbridge & Craigavon PCSP organised and chaired the meeting with the Inspectors over Microsoft Teams. The presentation gave an update on policing in the local area and took questions from the virtual attendees.

MAKE THE RIGHT CALL

PSNI have launched a new campaign asking the public to 'make the right call' when it comes to ringing 999, as a result of hoax callers. In the 12 months, from 1st September 2019 to 1st September 2020, the Police Service handled a staggering 3,502 hoax calls.

Every prank call could potentially stop someone else from getting through - and that could have deadly consequences.

The PSNI will be releasing more recordings of real hoax calls they've received so keep an eye (and ear!) out on their website and social media pages.

Listen to this hoax call and what Chief Inspector Gerard Pollock had to say about the new campaign:

STAY SCAMWISE

It doesn't matter whether you live in a busy city or the middle of the countryside, scammers will have a con designed to attract your attention, whatever the location. That's why the new Scamwise NI and Consumer Council NI campaign is letting farmers and agricultural businesses know how to be on the lookout for fraud.

Watch the video and find out the top 10 most common scams for farmers and agricultural businesses:

"Scammers are targeting farmers and agricultural businesses across Northern Ireland. Therefore, it is more important than ever to take extra precautions to avoid falling victim to fraud or a scam"

SILENT GUARDIANS HELP COMMUNITIES

Members of Mid Ulster PCSP have been out with local neighbourhood police officers in Mourne Crescent, Coalisland as part of the Silent Guardian project. The initiative responds to concerns from local residents over drug dealing in their communities and provides information and guidance on the reporting process.

Silent Guardian is an initiative that PSNI have launched with the support of the Department of Justice, NIPB, PCSP and Crimestoppers.

TACKLING DOMESTIC AND SEXUAL ABUSE

HAIRDRESSERS AND BEAUTICIANS HELP CUT ABUSE

Hairdressers and beauticians in Belfast have been offered the chance to help tackle domestic violence, thanks to Belfast Domestic and Sexual Violence Partnership's domestic abuse awareness classes.

The organisation have been offering free training sessions, via Zoom, on how to recognise signs indicating their client might be a victim of domestic abuse. Training is also given on what to do if someone does disclosure to them, and on where to signpost the person to next. Interested in taking part? Places are limited so get in touch via the email address below as soon as possible.
